

The image shows the grand, classical facade of the Institut français d'Écosse building. It features a portico with tall columns and a balcony with a balustrade. Two flags are flying from poles on the roof: the European Union flag on the left and the French flag on the right. The sky is overcast. Large white text is overlaid on the center of the image.

The background image shows a grand, historic interior space, likely a Scottish Parliament chamber. On the left, three flags are displayed on tall poles: the flag of Scotland (white saltire on a blue field), the flag of France (vertical tricolor of blue, white, and red), and the flag of the European Union (blue field with twelve yellow stars). In the center, a large, ornate, circular metal fountain with intricate scrollwork stands on a circular base. The room features high ceilings with arched windows, marble columns, and a polished floor with a geometric pattern. The text is overlaid in the center of the image.
